EXERCISE 1.1

1. Following number line shows the temperature in degree celcius ($^{\circ}\text{C}$) at different places on a particular day.

Number line: Lahalspiti (-10), Srinagar (-5), Shimla (0), Ooty (15), Bengaluru (25).

(a) Observe this number line and write the temperature of the places marked on it.
(b) What is the temperature difference between the hottest and the coldest places among the above?
(c) What is the temperature difference between Lahalspiti and Srinagar?
(d) Can we say temperature of Srinagar and Shimla taken together is less than the temperature at Shimla? Is it also less than the temperature at Srinagar?

2. In a quiz, positive marks are given for correct answers and negative marks are given for incorrect answers. If Jack's scores in five successive rounds were 25, -5, -10, 15 and 10, what was his total at the end?

1.3 Large Numbers in Practice

In earlier classes, we have learnt that we use centimetre (cm) as a unit of length. For measuring the length of a pencil, the width of a book or notebooks etc., we use centimetres. Our ruler has marks on each centimetre. For measuring the thickness of a pencil, however, we find centimetre too big. We use millimetre (mm) to show the thickness of a pencil.

Try These

1. How many centimetres make a kilometre?
2. Name five large cities in India. Find their population. Also, find the distance in kilometres between

(a) 10 millimetres = 1 centimetre
To measure the length of the classroom or the school building, we shall find centimetre too small. We use metre for the purpose.
(b) 1 metre = 100 centimetres = 1000 millimetres
Even metre is too small, when we have to
